

Acknowledgements

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge some debts of gratitude and to provide thanks. Firstly, I would like to thank my co-editor, Phillip Blond, for agreeing to venture on this project with me and Ludovika University Press for the publication of it.

I would also like to thank as well as Phillip, Ferenc Hörcher, John O’Sullivan, Melissa O’Sullivan and Andrea Robotka for assisting in making the conference that this volume is based on, but not exclusively to, a success. Relatedly, I would also like to acknowledge the institutional support of the Danube Institute and the Ludovika University of Public Service for bringing the conference to fruition. A special thanks to the Rector, Gergely Deli, for providing an opening talk at the conference in March 2022 and to Bernát Török, the Director of the Eötvös József Research Centre.

This volume would have not been possible without the work and dedication of the chapter authors who have produced quality output, so my thanks also to CJ, Chris, Kevin, Matt, David, Henry, Eric, Andrew, Imogen and Ishaan.

A final thanks goes to my wife, Karoliina, for all her support and her encouragement throughout the years and especially for this volume.

I would like to thank the Ludovika University of Public Service in Budapest and its Research Institute of Politics and Government for their support for this conference. I would like to thank especially Professor Ferenc Hörcher and Andrea Robotka for their help and support in making this conference and indeed this ongoing series happen. Also my acknowledgement and thanks to Bernát Török, the Director of the Eötvös József Research Centre for his input into the volume and conference. Special thanks are due to my colleague Dan Pitt who did the lion's share of the work and has been an assiduous and diligent partner in the endeavour. Finally thanks to all the colleagues who took part in the conference and their labours and their thoughts.
